Welcome to Comprehensive Cancer Care Network

CCCN is a website created for helping cancer patients combat the disease with better cancer care. Though the idea of starting a network originated from Trichy, now it has spread across various parts of India with a volunteered crew of 50 cancer specialists which comprises 20 Medical Oncologists, 15 Surgical Oncologists and 9 Radiation Oncologists who desire to make cancer care more scientific." CCCN shall strive hard to make cancer patients understand their disease better and also help them to make the most appropriate decision at difficult times. This website also serves as a web based tool to connect various cancer groups across India through our web based medical oncologist forum, Multidisciplinary Tumor board, Radiation oncologist forum and web based surgical oncologist board. We strongly believe that this website will bridge the gap that exists between the cancer patient and the specialist. We are not an alternative to any hospital or institution, rather we will definitely help the cancer patients to reach the hospital or institutions which provide the best cancer care. To make it simple, CCCN is an effort to make cancer care more scientific.

Greetings.
It gives me great pleasure to associate myself with a team of socially committed doctors on the journey of creating awareness in the minds of the youth through this "YOUTH HEALTH MELA".

It is learnt that the present day youth being carried away by the whims and fancies of the so called 'MODERN WORLD' are least bothered about their health. The least importance given to proper sleep, attraction towards junk food, unwanted practices to exhibit their heroism, unbecoming activities towards worldly pleasures will definitely have an impact on their health.

I wish and pray that this YOUTH HEALTH MELA will strike a nail on their head and say,

"If anything is sacred, the human body is sacred."
